Pollutec 2016, unity is strength

COMET, HPP and PTC present their latest products at the Lyons environment show.

Once again this year, the EUREXPO in Lyon created a framework for Pollutec, the international show of equipment, technologies and services related to the environment.

The exhibition, which has reached its twenty-seventh appointment, was staged between 29 November and 2 December over a show area of 100,000 square metres and was visited by 2,500 specialists split over 8 large show sectors: the re-use and recycling of waste, water and wastewater treatment, energy, environment analysis tools, technologies for improving the quality of air, risk prevention and management solutions, waste disposal suggestions, and research and social responsibility of companies.

The guiding thread of each area was the search for innovative solutions for totally environment-friendly sustainable development.

The display of Comet products was focused on a selection of HPP-brand high-pressure pumps, representing an increasingly more complete range of top-performance products, as well as on the most recent products of the Cleaning Division, such as the KP, FDX Xtreme high-pressure cleaners and Hot Box mobile hot-water generator.

In line with the leitmotiv of the event, the Comet stand also hosted a number of PTC units, a company specialized in the manufacture of urban cleaning and water jetting machines.

In particular, the trade fair represented a chance to present the brand new Compact trailer, a mobile and compact pressure jetting unit approved for road transport (with B licence) dedicated to cleaning sewers and professional unblocking of pipes, available in hot and cold water models with pressures up to 500 bar.

The numerous visitors to the event goes to show how the company has hit its target, promptly grasping the indicators provided by a fast-growing market and managing to transform them into appealing products.
